Mental wellbeing workshops for women

We're headed back to Newcastle in the week of 20th June 2022! As part of this activation, we are keen to work with as many local groups as possible. The more people we work with the greater the collective connection and emotional literacy across the community. Which means improved mental fitness, better relationships, and generally better lives for locals.

So if you have a local group and would love to work on your group connection and build more emotional muscle get in touch for more info.
